The Le Nard Letters. Arrival of M. Co .- Prospect of a quorum the First day... The Moral M. C's and the Immoral Mormons. The Politicians and the JAMES B. Hawley? Was that strictly re-Amnesty, Practical Jokes, etc.

IWASHINGTON, Nov. 26, 1872. To judge by the number of M. C.'s already present. Congress will have a stronger quorum at its very first meeting; and as several important measures are to be brought up, there is considerable skirmish SHOW ing done already. Our Solons being re-markable for singleness of heart, and never, even by chance guilty of looking at any divinity except their own better halves, are fiercely determined to reform those sinners, the Moranons, and compel them to as strict a course of morality as Show and third CASEN constantly on hand, and them to as strict a course of morality as 4-15412m. N. DOLINE CO., PROP RS. their own. But as these benighted beings cling to their "peculiar institution" like Victor Hugo's Devil-fish to its prey, the fight will be a hard one; especially as these Sult Lakers will call a spade a spade. Commission Merchants, and are too blind to appreciate the purity of their opponents.

Then too the civil service bill is to be considerably modified; since politicians find that it is to be more than a campaign LOVISVILLE dodge, it does not agree with their tender constitutions at all; and they clamor for its abolition so loudly, that Congress will be obliged to give them a soothing potion in some shape:

Press, has got into a horner's nest by mildly insipuating that the 3d Auditor, Allen Rutherford, was not quite as innocent as a babe in arms; but had held his little hand in the pleasant game played in Carolina Of course such as intimation shocked the pure mind, and lacerated the feelings of proverbially sensitive creatures and nothing less than $10,000 of filthy lucre will soothe his anguished soul; at least that amount of damage is claimed by his counsel. Col. F is duly scared of course ; but as he was a passenger on the unfortunate train which was telescoped near Wilmington, Del., a few days ago, it is hard to determine whether it was the jar of the collision, or the juw of R.'s compact which tells upon him. If only every man, who has been slandered during the last eampaign would imitate the Auditor's example, what a rich harvest the lawyers would reap for the next few years. Of course it is cruel and wicked to circulate false statements concerning any one, but a politician's suit to have his character repaired with money, seems as bad as that of a woman. who stoops to plunder the man she professes to love, if he will none of her.

To swell our list of amusements the lecture courses are about to open. Edmund Yates, the English novelist, starts the 'Star Course' to-morrow eve; after him some some of the best speakers and authors of this continent, so that plenty of food will be furnished the inquiring mind. Our new Opera House will soon be completed also; and that means Pauline Luces to music lovers. Madame Rudersdorf sings to-night for the second time here and is lauded to the skies; several lesser lights are to follow soon; and between them there will be no danger of our pleasureeeker s dying of ennui. By the way, our young quill-drivers know a thing or two to knep the blues at bay; and as I am not sworn to secrecy, I in tempted to tell a few of their pranks. In one of the departments is a young man.

Finally a meeting was arranged to take place at Franklin Square, at which he was to know her by her dropping some article or other, and was to accest her, if he liked her appearance. All hands were there to see what would happen; Adonis came, saw and liked a lady who, stumbling droped a book; he spoke to her, and she looked at him, merely, then calling on her brother beside her, left him to that young man's dexterity in the hooting line, and told her friends that an "impudent puppy" had insulted her. The question of a united effort to secure to the citizens of Davenport, Rock sland and vicinity the free use of the bridge across the river and island for the surpose of commercial intercourse, was considered. President Sickles and Mayor Bennet were unamiously chosen a committee to confer with the Mayor and the President of the Board of Trade of Rock Island, with a view to joint action by the two cities in an application to the proper authorities for the desired facilities

The same paper, speaking of the fact that people are at present allowed to cross without passes, says-

"If the weather should again turn warm, and should the ferry boat re-appear from her winter quarters, and go into bus-iness once more, the bridges and roadway are to be immediately closed against the public, and all persons will be compelled to patronize the ferry. We are sure all our citizens will be glad to know the passage to Rock Island is now free to all; but they will be surprised to learn that the War Department of the United States is regulated and its actions directed by the Davenport and Rock Island Ferry Com-THANKSGIVING DAY was very cold, and
